Retired Optometrist To Exhibit Paintings

A one-man art exhibit featuring 25 oil paintings and water colors by Dr. Phil H. Lisman, 1503 Post avenue, a retired optometrist, will be staged in the Torrance Library as a preview showing set for Sunday, December 17, from 3-5 p. m.

The exhibit will be on display until January 17 during regular library hours after Sunday, according to Mrs. Dorothy Jamieson, city librarian, who arranged for the showing.

Dr. Lisman, who retired from a Wilmington practice three years ago, has been following his one-time artistic avocation "seriously" since he retired. His work this year, including 25 paintings, will comprise the show.

The local artist follows the true water color technique in his paintings. He uses the English water color method which makes use of opaque colors—white in particular. Both his water colors and oils depict California scenes, landscapes, desert scenes and seascapes done in the conventional, conservative tempo.

Speed Typing Emphasized In Adult Education Class

After six sessions in the beginning typing class, the range of speed has been from 28 to 53 words a minute in one-minute tests, according to Neil Galluzzo, instructor of the adult typing class at the Torrance School of Adult Education. In using the modern speed approach, Galluzzo works on wholes instead of parts—words, phrases, and sentences instead of just single letters.

At this free Tuesday night class at the Torrance Evening High School, Galluzzo has been accustomed to having students who have never typed become experts in a relatively short period of time. As this psychologist-speed expert business instructor points out: "The endless pounding of letters has gone forever, and the new scientific, fast approach to present-day typing has come in. It is our plan to start our students on familiar material. If they can type this material at 40 words a minute, we know first-hand that their fingers and mind are capable of such speeds and that the next logical step is diverting this ability to less familiar matter."
